

BOOK READING AND SIGNING
BY LOCAL AUTHOR
GERALYN HESSLAU
MAGRADY

In 1871, Chicago is unaware of the great tragedy ready to unfold. The class struggles that were evident prior to the fire will be strengthened during the city's rebirth, and an obedient Livia Haas must find her own strength during the transition. Affected by a first love, a deceased brother, and a sinister acquaintance who threatens her life and family, Livia Haas is forced to question literal and personal lines, as well as those that exist in the lineage from which she is born.

Where: The Looking Glass
823 S Oak Park Ave,
Oak Park, Illinois

When: Saturday, March 12 @ 2:00

*There will be a short reading and brief discussion of the story's inspiration, followed by the signing.
Books will be available for sale on the day of the event.
($14.99)*

Geralyn Hesslau Magrady grew up in Chicago and currently resides in Berwyn, IL. With LINES—, a story of Chicago historical fiction, Geralyn is a semi-finalist for the Soon To Be Famous Illinois Author Project, a statewide self-publishing contest coordinated by the Illinois Library Association and the Reaching Across Illinois Library System. Her poems have been published on the Autumn Sky Poetry DAILY website and in The Write City Magazine, the e-zine of the Chicago Writers Association. Hesslau Magrady frequently updates her website with writing-related blog posts, personal essays, and photo-inspired poetry. LINES— is her first novel.
(<http://www.ghesslaumagrady.com>)

